MADDEN NEWS.

Madden, Aug. 3.—The first dog day brought us rain so therefore if the old sign holds true, we shall have no August drouth—if so we shall all be duly thankful.

From time immemorial we have had our "big meeting" at Prospect the week after the 4th Sunday in July. Owing however, to various circumstances the meeting has been postponed till the 5th Sunday in August. We shall protract from that day. There has been no definite decision as yet, who will assist Bro. Martin. Some of us are hoping it will be Dr. A. B. Langston, if it can be so arranged. However, that part will be announced in due time.

Miss Aiken, our former teacher, has been on a visit here to Miss Ora Powers and Miss Julia Cunningham. The latter complimented her Tuesday night with a lawn party. Owing to the rain, however, the party was held indoors. The color scheme was white and pink which was carried out in the ices and cakes. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. and Miss Cunningham and the pleasure of seeing Miss Aiken again were Misses Ina Coleman, Edna and Bennie Proffitt, Ora Powers, Laura Brown and the Misses Morris; Messrs. Jim and Pierce Moore and Mr. Lavender of Laurens, Geo. Brown Hix and Bee Martin and Burdett Morris.

Miss Louise Shannon of Camden, has been elected principal of Prospect school for another year. She is a graduate of Winthrop and has had several years experience in teaching. She will receive a cordial welcome in our midst.

Mrs. Lena Brown and sons, Miller, Hamilton and Minter, from Cash's Depot, are up on a visit to relatives and friends here. Mrs. Brown is a great favorite here and she is receiving a cordial welcome. From here she goes to visit her sister, Mrs. Dr. Moseley at Cross Keys.

If Mr. Cooper had a few more as ardent supporters as is Mrs. Brown, "the other fellows" had just as well draw out now!

It seems though we are to have two candidates in the race for the same office. We claim old Judge Thompson for he has made this his home for a number of years, and his opponent, Shaw Cunningham, though now of Clinton, yet Madden is his native home. This race no doubt will arouse a good deal of interest. Judge Thompson, the old war horse and campaigner has held office for a quarter of a century. Shaw is entering the arena for the first time. Both are clean, capable and competent.

Mr. and Mrs. Calcutt are up from Augusta, to spend awhile with Mrs. Calcutt's mother, Mrs. Madden Saturday, they all went up to Gray Court for the week-end with relatives there.

Miss Katherine Clinkscales, of Spartanburg, who has been on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Will Clinkscales, left for her home Friday, after a very pleasant stay here.

Mrs. Josie Martin had as her guests Friday, Mrs. Lena Brown, Mrs. Dora Bryson and daughter Sara, and Mesdames Mollie Teague and Cleo Wofford. A very pleasant day was spent.

Mrs. Griff Finley and the new boy are getting on nicely. The arrival of the little fellow makes the 50th grandchild of Uncle John Finley, 47 of whom are living. Evidently there is no race suicide in the Finley family.

Miss Josie Martin of Clinton and Larry Martin of Spartanburg and the little Misses Margaret and Mildred Tinsley of Laurens, are the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. M. T. Allison.

The little Misses Allie Martin of Greenville, Virginia Martin of Laurens and Mattie Sue Wofford were the guests Friday of Mrs. Luther Finley. The big watermelon they helped eat will remain a pleasant spot in the memory of their childhood.

Mrs. Mary Powers and daughter, Mrs. Mera Traynham of Woodrow Wilson, were the guests recently of Mr. J. H. Powers.

Miss Julia Cunningham is on a visit to her friend, Miss Ina Coleman, of Waterloo.

Miss Azile Wofford and brother, Gus, are spending awhile with their aunt, Mrs. May Madden.

Miss Marie Madden is off on a visit to her grandmother in Greenville. She will be joined next week by her mother, Mrs. May Madden and children, Henry and Mary B.
